

Central Agency for public Mobilization and statistics Press Release

First of September release (number) 104 of “Statistical year book” Year 2013

- Central Agency for public Mobilization and statistics has announced that the new release of “Statistical year book for 2013” will be available on CAPMAS website for all users starting from Sunday 1/9/2013. The new release will include the latest data and statistics either produced by CAPMAS or other ministers and different State organizations in form of time series that includes demographic statistics covering the population according to characteristics, sex, age category, rural and urban areas, vital statistics for births and deaths, natural increase, marriage and divorce statistics, social statistics that includes pre-university / university education, health statistics for hospitals, families, health units, cultural statistics, art activities, transportation statistics that covers roads lengths, railways, airplanes, ships, communication statistics, labor statistics regarding labor force, employees, unemployed, also economic statistics that consider tourism statistics, external and internal trade, finance and bank statistics, industrial statistics, agriculture statistics considering production , agriculture income, price statistics and indices for consumers, producers and gross domestic production, growth rates , environmental statistics on wastes, pollution and emissions.
- It is remarkable in this issue that it includes the latest data and statistics available at CAPMAS and other concerned organizations that gives expressive image and statistical information reflecting the changes occurred on the State sectors and presents the differences in a simplified form through data time series at the total detailed level to provide comprehensive statistical publications.
- As CAPMAS is keen on providing more data needed by many users, new tables have been added to include statistics that cover detailed population estimates according to age, sex, urban and rural category, and also loan statistics for agriculture investment loans, water production station for pure and turbid water, registered students in private institutes, beneficial from vocational rehabilitation, cultural and social services from subsidized non governmental organizations.
- CAPMAS expects that the availability of this release will fulfill the needs of data users from decision makers, researchers, individuals, foundations, domestic, national and international organizations. For further information regarding data and information of the new release and other data information, please visit CAPMAS website : www.capmas.gov.eg